DECATUR MORNING REVIEW

VOL. XI. NO. 247. DECATUR, ILLINOIS, SATURDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 21, 1889. 10 CENTS A WEEK.

APPALLING DISASTER.

Scores of People Buried by a Great Landslide.

QUEBEC THE SCENE OF CALAMITY.

An Enormous Mass of Earth Detached from a Cliff and Hurled Down on the Houses Below—People Unable to Escape Buried Under Thirty Feet of Earth—The Work of Rescue.

QUEBEC, Can., Sept. 20.—A landslide occurred from the face of Cape Diamond, below the citadel, at twenty minutes past 7 Thursday evening, crushing the houses beneath it and imprisoning the inmates below. The debris was piled to a height, in some cases, of from twenty to thirty feet over the houses which stand below. The extent of the disaster, from present indications, will fall little short of that which occurred on nearly the same spot May 17, 1841, when eight buildings were destroyed and thirty-two persons killed. In 1852 several others were killed half a mile further up the street by a similar avalanche of rock; still the warnings were disregarded and people continued to build and to take up their habitations immediately below the overhanging masses of rock that jut out in front of the cape and the narrow street that bears the name of Quebec's founder and that occupies all the space that remains between the cliff and river, save the wharves, which serve also as the back yards of the houses where the disaster occurred.

Cause of the Calamity.

Two fearful days of rain and flood succeeding a month of dry weather filled the crevices of the soil immediately below and beyond the southern extremity of Dufferin terrace, and at 7:20 p. m. an enormous mass was detached from the cliff and hurled as with the noise of many thunders, slowly and majestically at first, but rapidly increasing in momentum through its slide of a couple of hundred feet over the retaining wall, pushing half a dozen houses out of its way and crushing most of them beneath its weight as though they had been so many paper boxes.

Some of those who saw the slide were standing at the doors of their houses and were too paralyzed to move out of its way. Others ran to a place of safety. The debris of rock filled up the narrow street to the depth of some thirty feet and cut off all communication between the portions of the city north and south of it.

Searching for the Dead and Dying.

On the wharves behind where the houses had stood scattered timbers and the earth and rock that partly covered them were mingled with huge piles of coal that left little passage way between them and the river. The river policemen, whose station is close by, and the city police from Champlain market were among the first to rush to the relief of the imprisoned, the wounded, and the dying sufferers. As soon as an idea was obtained of the extent of the disaster the whole force of municipal police was turned out to render assistance and Chief Vohl applied to B battery at the citadel for assistance. A strong force of the military under command of Maj. Wilson turned out to aid in the removal of the debris. Fire broke out almost immediately in some of the ruins, but the brigade, when summoned, soon extinguished the flames and set to work to assist in the search for the dead and dying.

A List of Those Rescued.

It was at once evident that considerable loss of life must have occurred, for some of the buildings were completely buried beneath a fearful mass of rock and earth, though willing workers set out to remove the debris. The first assistance was naturally given to the imprisoned living, some of whom could be seen pinned by rocks or broken timbers, while the frantic cries for help could often be heard of others who were buried out of sight.

At midnight those rescued were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carlson; Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neil and family, Mrs. O'Neil being slightly injured; Mrs. Luke Kerwin and child; Mrs. Tim Berrigan; Dennis Berrigan, taken out in an apparently dying condition; James Hayden, William Stevens and son; Nelly Deehey, with broken leg; Patrick Fitzgerald with leg broken and internal injuries; three of the Maybury children; Stephen Burke and his mother, the former badly injured; Mrs. Fitzgerald; Thomas Graves, with broken leg; William Power, wife and child, and Mrs. Thomas Farrell.

Hard on the Working People.

The work of excavating still goes on at the scene of the terrible landslide. But few bodies have been taken out since midnight. A large number of persons are still missing and there is no doubt but that they are beneath the ruins and so deep down that they will all be dead before they are reached. The loss sustained by the surviving victims of the disaster is almost total. In addition to their homes most of the sufferers who are workingmen lost all their summer earnings. The injured have been removed to the Hotel Dieu where they are receiving all possible care.

Revised List of Victims.

Following is a revised list of victims so far as known up to noon Friday: Killed—Thomas Farrell, three Farrell children, two Burke children, one Bradley child, one child of P. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Bracken, Mrs. Stephen Burke, Henry Black, William Black, Thomas Nolan, Mrs. Ready. The injured are: Mr. and Mrs. Carlson, Mr. J. O'Neill, Mrs. Luke Kerwin and child, Thomas Berrigan, Denis Berrigan, James Hayden, William Stevens and son, Nellie Deehey, Patrick Fitzgerald, Martin Ready, three Maybury children, Stephen Burke and his mother, Mrs. Fitzgerald, Thomas Graham; William Power, wife and child; Mrs. Thomas Farrell.

A Herculean Task.

The work of rescue was pursued unceasingly throughout the night and still goes on with unabated vigor, but the task is one of gigantic proportions. For instance, the Black family were buried under debris twelve feet in depth. When Miss May Cauldwell, niece of Mr. Black, was extricated, life was almost extinct. She is seriously hurt. The next person reached was Mr. Thomas Berrigan, whose wife had been taken out dead. He was badly shattered and is in a critical condition. Then came a boy of 8 years, named Berrigan, with his left leg crushed. Mrs. Black was next taken out unconscious and remained so five hours. She is badly hurt.

A Complete Stoppage of Traffic.

As the bodies of the dead and injured were recovered they were removed, the former to places of shelter and the latter to the hospitals. At the scene Friday morning thousands of curious spectators blocked the narrow street and made it a difficult task to move in any direction, there being but the one narrow street between the rock and the river. There is a complete stoppage of traffic except by climbing over the debris of rock and dwelling houses intermixed. So great is the mass of material which will have to be removed that the Allan Steamship company and other business houses whose establishments are west of the slide have been forced to engage temporary offices in the eastern part of lower town.

Badly Disfigured Bodies.

The shipping office in the Dominion government building has been turned into a temporary morgue, and at this writing over twenty bodies lie in it. It is difficult to identify some of them, so much have they been disfigured and crushed. The following are later identifications: Miss Allen, Mrs. McKenna, Michael Deehy, Mrs. Leahy, Charles Allen and wife; Norah Kennedy, an adopted daughter of Richard Leahy. There are several bodies not yet identified. Two of them are supposed to be the little daughters of Mrs. Stephen Burke. Several of those persons reported missing have turned up, but it is thought that there will be ten or more victims to be added to the list. No list of the injured can as yet be fully made up, as they were removed to different hospitals, and many to the homes of friends. Only one or two are thought to be fatally injured.

Substantial Relief.

Several citizens, including Hon. Mr. Mercier, premier of the province, have sent sums of money to relieve any immediate distress among the homeless sufferers. There were several families of strangers from Newfoundland in the houses destroyed. The loss of life among them is uncertain.

NEARING AN END.

The Strike of the Indiana Block Coal Miners at Brazil.

BRAZIL, Ind., Sept. 20.—The strike of the Indiana block coal miners is near its end. For two or more weeks past "blacklegging" in the different mines has increased until now fifty-five are at work in the Jumbo mine at Knightsville, fourteen in No. 10, sixteen in No. 8, twelve in the Nickel Plate, and eight in Crawford's, all at the operators' reduction from 85 and 90 to 70 cents. Thursday No. 8 miners voted unanimously to go to work next Monday. No. 8 has a capacity of 200 men. Perhaps 150 of their number are yet at the mines, notwithstanding five months' idleness.

Terms of Settlement.

The terms are that the operators remit all rents during the strike, reduce rents correspondingly to the reduction in mining, furnish powder at $2 a keg, 25 per cent. reduction of coal for miners' use, also 25 per cent. reduction in pick sharpening. Meanwhile the executive committee has called meetings to take action in reference to blacklegging. Nearly 20 per cent. of their number were blacklegging before the No. 8 miners determined to go to work. To offset this the committee issued a permit last week for all operators to start who would pay last year's scale but did not wish to sign the yearly scale. This failed. Some violence has been attempted, but this also failed.

The Miners' National Trade Assembly.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 20.—The national trade assembly of the Miners' United States Legion held its second day's session here Thursday morning. Master Workman Roe, of Pittsburg, made an aggressive address in which he said miners would continue to be the most ill-paid body of workingmen in the country until they learned the value of organization. Secretary Pellman reported that it cost $50,000 to run the assembly last year; but he said the investment was a good one. Favorable legislation had been brought about by the executive committe in five of the western states, while many concessions had been received from employers. These concessions aggregated $400,000 during the year from July 1888 to August 1889.

Refining Works Destroyed.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 20.—The Kansas City fire department went across to Kansas City, Kan., Thursday to assist in extinguishing flames in the Kansas City dessicating and refining works over there. The works were destroyed, however, causing a loss of $75,000, with $14,000 insurance. While Chief Hale, of the fire department of this city, was directing his men from the roof some one carelessly removed a ladder and when he found it necessary to descend he was compelled to slide down the hose. When about half way down the hose broke in two at the roof, where it had been melted by the flames, and Hale fell a distance of fifteen feet to the ground. He was but slightly injured.

In Favor of Colonization.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 20.—The negroes of Cobb county held a meeting Thursday night in favor of colonization in some of the northwestern states. The speakers were exceedingly conservative, taking the stand that it was impossible for distinct races to live together. By colonizing in a western territory the negroes could get together. It brings tears to their eyes to part from those with whom they have lived, but it was better to shed tears of friendship in parting than to remain and shed drops of blood in anger. A large number signed a memorial to congress asking that body to take action in the matter.

A Committee Will Settle It.

MACON, Ga., Sept. 20.—Messrs. Huff and Patterson have agreed to refer their differences to a committee for settlement. The one on whom the committee places the blame for the trouble will retract or apologize to the other. The committee is composed of clergymen, Rev. E. W. Warren, pastor of the First Baptist church; Rev. T. R. Kendall, pastor of the Mulberry Street Methodist church, and Rev. W. B. Jennings, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. They will consume several days in the investigation.

Struck It Rich.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Sept. 20.—Capt. Thomas Trevarthen brought to this city Thursday night 200 pounds of the richest gold-bearing quartz yet taken from the Ishpeming gold range. It came from the Michigan mine, where a few men have been set at work again pending a decision by the supreme court of the lawsuit over the property. The value of the lot of rock is estimated at $5,500.

Perished in the Flames.

DECORAH, Iowa, Sept. 20.—Julius Meyers' restaurant building here burned Thursday night, and he perished in the flames. He had been depressed since his saloon was closed by prohibition, and a few days ago got a jug of alcohol, drove his wife out, and locked himself up. It is thought that in his delirium he set fire to the premises.

Another of the Leo's Victims Found.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 20.—The body of L. D. Lawler, another of the victims of the Leo disaster was found on the lake shore here Friday morning. Lawler's face was badly burned. Four more bodies have yet to be found.

Two Miners Instantly Killed.

MOUNT CARMEL, Pa., Sept. 20.—At the Alaska colliery Friday morning two miners, Hugh Roberts and Anthony Marchetty, were instantly killed by a fall of rock.

NEW YORK NEWS NOTES

Progress of the Trial of Henry S. Ives.

LIVELY SCENE IN THE COURT ROOM.

Ives' Attorney Called Down by Recorder Smyth—Close Call for a Row—The Italian Demonstration Comes Off Without Any Trouble—Suit for $1,000,000 Against the Erie Railway.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The Ives case began very dramatically Friday morning. At 10:15 Ives took his seat and precisely one hour later the court convened. Counsellor Brooke arose and demanded that Julius Dexter, the president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road, be called as a witness. He alleged as the reason, an important witness, whom he had expected to be present Friday morning, was absent because a conspiracy had been formed to prevent the witness from reaching the city. A telegram from Banker Morehead was produced. Pending decision a witness named Cook was called but owing to the recorders objecting, he was not sworn. Edgar M. Johnson was recalled and questioned concerning the agreement alleged by Woodruff to have been made last January. The witness said he first saw the agreement on Christmas Eve last in Stern Bros.' store. Mr. Johnson was not cross-examined.

Mr. Ives' Affidavit.

Lawyer Brooke then read an affidavit, signed by Ives, to the effect that James H. Wilson, being the porter of the car upon which the subscribed had left Cincinnati on June 21, 1886, had charge of the books, seals and certificates of the company. That said Wilson took the books and certificates to the office of Ives & Co., 25 Nassau street, and delivered them over to Mr. Ives. Mr. Brooke then handed the following telegrams over to the district attorney, who read them aloud:

Shall send Jimmy in the evening. I have given him written guarantee against loss of situation. H. B. MOREHEAD.

Send him at once; wire train left by.

Court Adjourned Until Monday.

Col. Fellows then said there was no assurance given in the dispatches that the witness had left or would arrive and therefore objected to any postponement unless until Monday morning. After some further controversy the recorder adjourned the court until Monday morning "for the purpose of allowing the defendant the witness material to the case relying upon the statement of counsel that he would be here to-day."

An Exciting Scene.

Here ensued a scene. Lawyer Brooke—Counsel made no such statement.

Recorder Smyth—If you repeat that, sir, I will commit you.

"But—"

"Sit down this moment, sir."

"You have no right to threaten me, sir."

"Sit down, sir, I have listened patiently long enough to your interruptions. I adjourn the court until Monday."

After adjournment it seemed once as if Col. Fellows and Mr. Brooke might come to blows. Ives' counsel allege a conspiracy to ruin their client with the trustees of the Myer estate at the head, the particulars of which can not be published at present.

ITALIANS ON PARADE.

Celebration of the Occupation of Rome by Italian Troops.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Friday, the day fixed for the Italian citizens' celebration of the occupation of Rome by the Italian troops, broke crisp and cool and overcast. The trouble anticipated between the two rival factions was averted, as it was arranged that the rival processions should start from different points and take different routes. That composed of the Italian societies started from Washington square, while the other known as Consul General Riva's contingent, started from Irving place. The parade of the Italian societies, under the auspices of the "Societa Italiana di Beneficenza," started at 10 o'clock.

What Consul General Riva Said.

The utmost excitement showed itself among the members of the different Italian lodges throughout the city because of the action of Consul General Riva in declaring that "any who marched in this parade were traitors." One of the most prominent members of the society said that fully 3,000 would have participated in the parade, but for the fear of incurring the consul general's displeasure. As it was some twenty organizations were represented. A squad of policemen headed the paraders followed by a number of carriages containing the officers of the various societies. Fifteen children with emblems and flags came next. The military and veterans of the late war made a fine display. Their uniforms were gorgeous.

Want a Million from the Erie.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—A suit has been begun in this city against the Erie railroad by Messrs. Andrews, Langdon & Co., the amount claimed being $1,000,000. The firm, who are the largest shippers of anthracite coal on the Erie railroad, charge that, owing to the unjust discrimination by the Erie road in favor of the Deleware and Hudson Canal company, the Hillside Coal and Iron company, and Pennsylvania Coal company, their business, in common with other individual coal producers on the Erie, has suffered considerably.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—A circular was read in all the Masonic lodges of this city Thursday night requesting that the members make every effort to ascertain the whereabouts of John A. Greenlee, a prominent Mason of Kearney, Neb. He left Belle Plains, Iowa, for DesMoines on May 6 last, since which time nothing has been heard of him. One member of the Masonic fraternity stated to a United Press reporter Friday that he thought he recognized in the description a man who called upon him for aid on the 16th inst.

The Cigar Makers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The session of the International Cigar Makers union in Tammany hall Friday was chiefly taken up in the discussion of a proposition to amend section 2, article 2 of the constitution so as to take the power of electing the president out of the hands of the delegates and leaving it to a vote of membership. The amendment was lost by a vote of 81 to 67.

BOHANNON GETS HIS BRIDE.

A Difference of Opinion Between the Mother and the Court.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 20.—Charles Bohannon, the blind minister, has won back by the aid of the court his pretty bride, who was stolen from him Sunday. Mrs. Fischer, the girl's mother, who Wednesday peremptorily refused to surrender her, was brought to terms by her husband. When the writ of habeas corpus was served on him Wednesday night he was told he must produce the girl or go to prison. Mrs. Bohannon accordingly was present, accompanied by her mother and step-father, when the case was called Thursday morning. Judge Jackson looked over the marriage certificate carefully, and, finding it good, told Mrs. Bohannon she was free to go with her husband. She had been standing before him with eyes filled with tears. Upon the decision she smiled radiantly and hastened to her husband.

Mrs. Fischer in Hysterics.

"Judge, I protest," exclaimed Mrs. Fischer; "she was married under the wrong name."

"That makes no difference," answered the judge. "If she is the right woman the marriage is legal."

"Yes, it does. It does make a difference and they're not married according to law," was the response, accompanied by wild gesticulations, and the laugh was on the judge, but he said benignantly:

"Well, madame, that's merely a little difference of opinion between you and the court."

As the crowd passed out Mrs. Fischer fell in hysterics in the rotunda and had to be carried away.

GEORGIA SENTIMENT.

Henry W. Grady Denounced for Standing for Law and Order.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 20.—A mass-meeting called by the Young Men's Democratic league Wednesday night denounced Henry W. Grady and The Constitution for having published the full facts about the Eastport negro lashing, and voted down every resolution which in any way condemned such conduct. The meeting was called for the purpose of condemning the outrage, which had already been denounced by the governor, the judges, and the newspapers of the state. The meeting had been organized and packed by a man who achieved considerable notoriety in connection with the burning of some effigies.

Grady Stands to His Guns.

Frank Arnold introduced resolutions denouncing the publication of accounts of the whipping and attributing by innuendo several recent offenses to the negroes of the county. Rube Arnold said that there was not a lick amiss placed upon the negroes, that they deserved the lash, etc. Several conservative speeches were made, but to no purpose, as the Arnold resolutions were passed overwhelmingly. The Constitution Thursday repeated its denunciation of midnight outrages and characterized them as cowardly assaults upon sleeping men.

Sunday Musical Entertainments.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20.—On Sunday night last Manager Fennessy gave a musical entertainment at one of his theatres, and he and others that participated were arrested. It was regarded as an effort to resume Sunday theatrical entertainments. Thursday the cases were heard before Judge Ermston of the police court on a demurrer. The court found that the statute clearly prohibited on Sunday any theatrical or dramatic performance as well as various other performances, but that it was silent as to musical performance. The rule requiring criminal statutes to be strictly construed prevents making a musical performance a crime or misdemeanor by implication, and hence the defendants were dismissed.

After taking his bath early in the morning he was allowed to examine the gallows, which he did in a most minute and careful manner, remarking: "I guess its all right. It looks as though it was stout enough anyway." This was said in as unconcerned a manner as though he were inspecting anything but his own death trap.

The Yacht Was Not Lost.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 20.—A two-masted yacht containing ten business men left Lorain last Saturday, bound for Put-in-Bay on a fishing trip. The excitement at Lorain was intensified Thursday morning by the report that that yacht as well as the Leo had gone down, too. The rumor, however, was without foundation, as the yacht is at Put-in-Bay and all hands are alive and well.

Takes Its Nap in a Cigar Box.

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio, Sept. 20.—Charles Miller and his wife, three miles from here, are the parents of a 10-days-old baby that weighs eight ounces. It sleeps in a cigar box and a lady's thimble covers its head. It appears to be well and the doctors say it will probably live.

Our Meat Market was established in 1855—thirty-four years ago, on the corner of South Main and Wood streets, where we are still located. The above fact proves conclusively that we have attained marked success in catering to the wants of the public, and should be accepted as a sufficient guarantee for the future. We can as before, supply you with the best of everything in our line, and only ask for a continuance of the very liberal patronage heretofore bestowed, being satisfied that we may MEAT all demands made upon us.

OLD STORIES

It seems a very poor answer for The Despatch to say that "THE REVIEW is convinced that the south concedes the right of every voter to cast his ballot unmolested and counts the ballots when cast." This is called a case of painful credulity. The question was not exactly what THE REVIEW thought, but rather what The Despatch did not think. It was that reprint from the Springfield News that was under discussion. The Despatch adopted that extravagant editorial, and now it may be somewhat ashamed. THE REVIEW simply called attention to the fact that it is not probable that the entire southern belt murders republicans to keep them away from the polls, and then refuses to count the ballots. We could not see why the southerners wanted to do all this cumulative work. We insisted that a paper might do all that is expected of it even from a republican standpoint by simply making one of these charges against the southern man. THE REVIEW thought that murder throughout the entire southern belt ought to be enough to carry an election. Or a refusal to count the republican ballots ought to be sufficient political scullduggery to elect a democrat. We are unable to see the necessity for both policies. This is called painful credulity on our part. We'll let our readers make up their minds about this.

Now The Despatch would bring in a discussion of the Ku Klux Klan. We do not know why it is the Springfield News had nothing to say on that subject. Now THE REVIEW does believe that there was an organization in the south that went by that name. There is a great deal to be said against the organization and a great deal to excuse it. We will first call The Despatch's attention to the fact that the Klan is a thing of the past. Not even The Tribune and The Globe Democrat speak of its existence to-day. Even those papers have been forced to reluctantly admit that the Klan no longer exists. But The News and The Despatch are just getting into the three K business. But we should be thankful for even this much. Comparatively it is progress, for we must remember that The Republican is still engaged in fighting the old war of the rebellion. This one step shows that The Despatch is capable of making some progress and after a while it will get along far enough to discuss the south of to-day. When that time comes THE REVIEW will be ready. But we can't see the necessity of again fighting over the war and the social as well as political troubles that inevitably followed upon its close. Those questions are not presented to the people of to day.

It is true there are still bloody indications of race troubles in the south, but so far the southern people have shown an ability to settle them. Any interference by professionals from the north has only served to fan the smouldering embers into flame. We can safely say that the intelligence of the south has the good of that country and at heart. We hope that this intelligence will be strong enough to carry all the southern states on to prosperity.

When The Despatch states that "leading southerners themselves admit that they do not propose to allow the votes of colored republicans to be counted in numbers sufficient to be in the majority," we must ask for the documentary evidence. This kind of a story is no good when it comes to us at second hand. It is another case of stating entirely too much. The southern man should be given credit for the possession of ordinary sense. It is very probable that if a southern leader comes to the determination to throw out the votes of colored republicans, he will not hawk the thing all over the country. It looks foolish to make any such charge against him. But it is the old republican idea to charge anything and everything, no matter how extravagant, against the southern part of our country. It serves to keep up the sectional lines. Its endeavor is to make two peoples of those who live under one constitution. It is unpatriotic selfishness. It has injured the country ever since the close of the war. Worse than all, it has enabled the republican party to foist a destructive trade policy upon this country. We all remember how during the last campaign, an argument in favor of honest trade regulations was met by a more diligent dissemination of southern outrage stories. The plutocrats now feel that the actual condition of this country is going to beat their high protection notions to death. They will endeavor to hang on a little longer by the aid they can get from the old southern story.

It is for this reason that they have gone to reviving the Ku-Klux tales. It is for this purpose that The Republican still continues to put down the war. It seems useless to [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] mask from [illegible] White Cap. It is a waste of time to tell the editor of The Republican that the rebellion was settled at Appomattox. As he went there, he [illegible] quite uncomfortable old [illegible] of the [illegible] while [illegible] man is starving to death in Illinois. The Chicago Tribune devotes one column to lying about the southern people and in the next column it advises the miners of Illinois to emigrate to Indiana and Missouri, and then with a genuine impudence that might be expected it asks the voice of the southern democrats in behalf of Chicago. There seems to be a terrible mistake somewhere. Present troubles are crowding all around us. Let us see what is the matter now right here in Illinois. Will stories of the Ku Klux and second hand memories of the war assist us in the very serious work of to day?

If The Herald man would only take the trouble to read the proceedings of the woolen manufacturers in convention at Boston he might discover that they are not now insisting on free wool. They now want what is called "compensatory protection." They would like to have the duty which they are compelled to pay on the raw material added to the present duty of 66 per cent which the final consumer is forced to pay on his piece of manufactured wool. The manufacturers could get no concessions out of Columbus Delano, a man who tries to make sheep raising profitable in Ohio by pulling political wires. It would never do for the rascals to fall out among themselves, for then we poor devils would get our due, so they have just agreed that the consumers shall foot the entire bill. This arrangement permits a continuation of cordial relations between Mons eur DeLano and the Massachusetts manufacturer. According to The Despatch it also allows the further progressive march of our country. Owing to the midnight silence of Decatur independence, we are entirely unable to state what the probable result will be, according to The Herald.

This Herald man ought to have more sense than tackle a convention that is now in progress. Its course in the Turner matter and its timely comments a [illegible] after the matter was over, ought to have been pursued in this wool business. Misstatements of what the woolen manufacturers really ask can hardly be tortured into independence and we all know that The Herald would rather be independent than say something. It would be better for North Main street to wait until congress has acceded to the demands of the wool growers and manufacturers, and then pronounce the completed work conscientious, just and courageous. When the editorial column of The Herald is devoted to calling attention to its affidavit, it becomes a successful piece of extravagant humor. Its misstatements about the demands of the woolen manufacturers are equally wide of the truth, but they are stupid.

LOOK HERE SOUTH WATER

Montgomery Ala Advertiser

For fear that the Chicago Tribune and Inter Ocean will overlook the item, we reprint from their city contemporary, The Chicago Herald, the statement that: "At Decatur, Ill., Wood Bros. purveyors of ice cream and candies, hold a license to sell Rev. Edward Wilson. He was a negro. He now arrests the purveyors by virtue of the civil rights law and the case will be hotly contested." If this had happened in Alabama the Chicago republican papers would have called for a regiment of United States troops to put down the rebellious traitors.

We should advise the consolidation of The Bulletin and The Republican were we not afraid that Mr. Lindsay would sue us for libel.

Isn't it about time to give that Herald affidavit its usual rejuvenation, a change of date?

A Female Paradox

A lady old, and growing older still
(As ladies will grow old, you know), became,
In spite of age as young as youth—but ill,
And old and wretched, feeble, lame and sore,
A lady young became, in spite of youth
As ladies will, and why? Because the truth,
That keeps a lady young, they fail to grasp
And yielding to disease, die in its fatal clasp
[illegible] truth is that woman's weakness may be Subdued by Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Interested People

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for coughs and colds does it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c and $1. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption.

Bishop Vinde, of Topeka, Kan, is on a visit to Rev F M Sisson, of Lincoln. He is resting from his labors and will probably not preach while there.

News About Town

It is the current report about town that Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs is making some remarkable cures with people who are troubled with coughs, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis and consumption. Any druggist will give you a trial bottle free of cost. It is guaranteed to relieve and cure. Trial bottles are 50c and $1. [illegible]

ABOUT OUR NEIGHBORS

Two months ago Harmon Coon hired a horse from William Sparks, of Bethany, and went out to Joseph Wright's and traded it to him for another horse. He left for the west and it is supposed he sold the horse. Last week he was arrested at Council Grove Kan. Thursday K F Nixworthy, armed with a warrant and requisition, started to bring him back. He started with his prisoner Monday and at present he is in jail at Sullivan. It is said that his brother in law who resides in Kansas, turned him over to the authorities for half of the reward of $50 — Sullivan Progress.

The Phi Delta Theta fraternity of the United States will meet at Bloomington on Oct 14 and remain in session four days. It is one of the most prominent Greek letter fraternities in the country. It was organized at Oxford O in 1848. The present chief executive of the nation was the first man to receive the regular initiation. Among other members of note may be mentioned W. F. Vilas, Hon J. A. Stevenson, Ex Minister Foster, eighteen ten senators and congressmen, twice as many state supreme and circuit court judges, Ex Pension Commissioner Black, Gov Mellette of Dakota, a long list of professional men and journalists headed by Eugene Field.

A Truant Officer.

Our board of education has as yet taken no action in regard to appointing a truant officer as required by the law passed by the last legislature. The matter was discussed at the last meeting of the board but was laid over. It will probably be settled at the next regular meeting the second Tuesday in October. A number of applications have been made for the place.

The duties of the officers are made very plain by the law. He shall look after children who are sent by their parents but absent themselves, and also after children who are not sent at all. The state law provides that all children between certain ages shall go to school. The truant officer shall hunt up all that may not be sent and notify the parents to send them. On a failure to comply with his notice, it is then the officer's duty to bring suit, and the penalty is a fine or imprisonment.

The Real Secret of the unparalleled success of THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS may be found in two distinguishing characteristics, which more than anything else have contributed to its remarkable growth.

FIRST.—It is a Daily Paper for Busy People. The people of the busy West appreciate keenly the necessity of an intelligent knowledge of the world's daily doings, but they are too busy to waste valuable time in searching through a cumbrous "blanket sheet" newspaper for the real news of art, literature, science, religion, politics, and the thousand and one things which make up modern civilization. They want news—all the news—but they don't want it concealed in an overpowering mass of the trivial and inconsequential. It is because THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS is "all wheat and no chaff," that its circulation is over "a million a week."

SECOND.—It is an Independent, Truth-telling Newspaper. The people demand a fair, impartial, independent newspaper, which gives all the news, and gives it free from the taint of partisan bias. With no mere political ambition to gratify, no "ax to grind," the impartial, independent newspaper may truly be "guide, philosopher and friend" to honest men of every shade of political faith; and this is why THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS has to-day a circulation of over "a million a week."

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS now adds to these two comprehensive elements of popularity, a third, in its unparalleled reduction of price to ONE CENT A DAY.

It is always large enough,—never too large. THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS is for sale by all newsdealers at One Cent per copy, or will be mailed, postage paid, for $3.00 per year, or 25 cents per month. The farmer and mechanic can now afford, as well as the merchant and professional man, to have his metropolitan daily.

You should read the Chicago DAILY NEWS because it's an independent newspaper. There are two sides to every political question, and THE DAILY NEWS gives them both with equal fairness. A party organ magnifies one side and dwarfs the other. No sensible man wants to be bottled with in this fashion. The time has gone by when American citizens expect to inherit their political opinions. They want to make their own—and to do this they want a paper to tell them the truth, regardless of their own personal preferences. If you are an honest man, independent and self-reliant in thought, read an honest and independent newspaper—read The CHICAGO DAILY NEWS.

Remember—Its circulation is 220,000 a day—over a million a week—and it costs by mail 25 cts. a month, four months $1.00,—one cent a day.

Police Notes.

Francis Hilton was arrested yesterday and brought before Justice Curtis, charged with threatening Charles Bell with a loaded gun. Bell is a colored man who drives a cow to and from pasture for O. Powers. The cow got out of the pasture and got into corn belonging to the Hilton boy's stepfather. They shut the cow in a lot, and in the morning Bell found her there, let her out, and started driving the cow home. Hilton saw them and tried to have Bell stop and pay damages for the corn. Bell referred him to Mr. Powers and was going on home, when the boy went in the house, came out with a loaded shot-gun, cocked it, and threatened to kill Bell if he did not leave the cow. Bell left her without hesitation and came in town, where he swore out the warrant for Hilton's arrest. The case was continued until 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Officers Batts and Baylor arrested two men, and would have got another one if he had not been a sprinter. The three men were down on East Eldorado street, and the residents in that part of the city were complaining of them as tramps, and the police went down there to arrest them. As soon as the vags saw them coming they started to run. Officer Baylor is something of a runner himself, and caught two of them, but the other one was two much for them and got away. The two fellows were taken to the station house and searched, and the officers were pretty well satisfied that they were thieves. Some new pairs of scissors, some combs with chains on, such as are used in hotels, and a silver cup with "Lake Shore and Michigan Southern" on it, were among their possessions. They also had some extra hats. They claim to be one a Spaniard and the other a half Mexican. They say that they went to New York with a stock man from Texas to help him take care of a load of cattle, and that he got drunk in the city and went home, leaving them in the lurch without money. For that reason they are trying to beat their way home to Texas.

To Whom it May Concern.

I have for eight seasons served the central Illinois annual conference of the United Brethren church as secretary, and by hard work have secured advertisements sufficient to pay all expenses of printing, and have distributed our minutes free of cost to our congregation. In looking after my ad's, I find some one has been before me with a copy of my minutes of last year and has secured some of my ad's. I am the only secretary elected by this conference and will call myself for the advertisements, and would say let no one deceive you, and that those who have given their ad's to any other person have been deceived.

The Retail Market.

The retail market has not changed much lately. A few things becoming unseasonable, have disappeared, and a few others, becoming plentiful, have grown cheaper, but the changes have been so few as to be hardly worth mention.

Fruits are not very plentiful, peaches, pears, and grapes being scarce for this time of year. It is likely that canned goods will be high this winter, as sugar has been high all summer and fruit has not been cheap. Apples are cheap enough now, but it is thought that the winter supply will be short.

Vegetables are plentiful for the most part, cheap and good. Sweet potatoes are getting lower, but there are few first-class ones yet.

Dressed poultry is now offered, but a rather high price. Oysters are meeting with a good sale for the season. The price is high and likely to stay that way. Dealers think the catch will be exceedingly short. The recent storms along the Atlantic coast did great damage to the oyster beds. Fish is still offered only once or twice a week, at the prices that have prevailed for months.

The following prices are quoted by our best dealers:

Fruits—Oranges, 30 to 50c; bananas 10 to 30c; lemons 20 to 35c; peaches, $2 a bu; apples, 10c to 20c a pk.; grapes, 5c a lb; pears, 50c to 70c a pk; cantaloupes, 5c to 10c each; watermelons, 10 to 30c each; cranberries, 12½c and 15c a qt; California quinces, 40c a doz.

A Big Party.

A surprise party that was a big one was gotten up on Mrs. S. M. Walker, Friday, at her fine home about seven miles east of the city. She had been making preparations to leave on Tuesday for Arkansas to spend the winter. It has been the custom for the family to gather once a year and have a big picnic on the grounds around the house, so this year they made it a special farewell party for Mrs. Walker. Her children were in the secret, but she was not, and the first intimation she had was when 12 wagon loads of people drove up, and getting out, announced an intention of staying all day. They were quickly made welcome, as were also the many who came afterwards. About 75 went out from Decatur. The day was spent pleasantly in the large house and roomy grounds. Everybody had a good time. Several fine presents were made Mrs. Walker.

From 1 to 3 o'clock dinner was served at a long table under the trees. It seated 50 people and was filled six times. The most of the dinner, a most expensive and elaborate one, was brought by the guests, but the resources of Mrs. Walker's well filled larder were called on quite largely. Though 300 people were entertained, there was enough left for an ordinarily sized party.

Among those present were a number of the old settlers of the county. They were most of them accompanied by their families, and their names are: Jacob Seitz, William Wheeler, Jack Veach, C. H. Lichtenberger, Tobias Quickel, Milton Clark, E. D. Horton, G. C. Davis, George Thomas, William Horton, William Sinnamie, James Moody, Benjamine Mizer, Mrs. William Rucker, Mrs. Heckel, Mrs. Harriet Sheperd, Mrs. Amanda Harkrider, Mrs. More, Mrs. Lou Veech, Mrs. John Lichtenberger, Mrs. Benson Myers, Mrs. Goff and Mrs. Stackhouse.

Those present who do not reside in Macon county were Mrs. McMullen, of Lovington; Mr. Rittenhouse, Lake City; Caleb Boyd and wife, of East Las Vegas, N. M.; Miss Geneva Tyler, Fredonia, Kan.; Miss Snyder, of Pennsylvania.

An Elegant Stock.

This is the time of year when the farmer has leisure to look about him and see what he wants in the way of a carriage, buggy or wagon. After the farmer or city man determines what he wants, his next consideration is to get the best worth for his money. To all those who contemplate a purchase, Spencer, Lehman & Co. would say: "come around and look at our stock." This firm has gained a splendid reputation in all this part of the state by superior work and fair dealing, reaching through a number of years. Their stock is now larger and more elegant than ever before. Call and be convinced.

Street Car Enterprise.

Both the street car companies were hustling last night. At midnight Superintendent Ferguson had a gang of men at work on the track between Water and Franklin streets, on North street, where the paving is being done. The street was illuminated with the headlights from the cars, and the men were busily engaged in excavating under the track.

The Decatur company had a force of men cleaning their tracks so that the rails would form better connections than at the last trial. The dust was being scraped to one side and the rails then swept. They were at work yet at 1 o'clock, and it looked as if they must be going to run cars regularly today or to-morrow. Speed the day.

Ordination of H. J. Vosburgh.

The Lincoln Herald of Thursday said: "The public services in connection with the ordination of Prof. H. J. D., pastor of the First Baptist church of Decatur, and a brother of the candidate, will preach the sermon. Rev. J. S. Jackson, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church of Bloomington, will deliver one of the principal addresses. Other short addresses on various topics suited to the occasion, will be delivered.

THE QUINLAN PARTY.

The Largest and Most Elaborate One in Decatur for Years.

One of the largest, most brilliant and most thoroughly enjoyable parties that has been given in Decatur for many years, was that one at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Quinlan last night. It was given as a farewell party in their magnificent home on College Hill, which they will soon vacate, having recently disposed of it.

The beautiful residence was brilliantly illuminated and elaborately decorated with smilax, cut flowers and growing plants. The open grates were all banked full of green plants and of flowers, and the rooms looked indeed lovely. In response to the invitations the guests began to gather at 8 o'clock, and from that time on the natural beauty of the rooms was enhanced by the appearance of the many handsome faces and beautiful costumes. One lady was heard to remark that she "never saw so many pretty girls together in all her life."

Every provision had been made to provide entertainment for the guests. The opera house orchestra furnished music during the evening, and at 9 o'clock dancing began and continued until a late hour. A card room was also well filled at almost all times during the evening. Miss Berry favored the guests with vocal selections several times during the evening.

Supper was served on the third floor. It was a dainty and elegant meal, quite in keeping with the other pleasures of the evening. There were six long tables with decorations in pink, yellow and deep red, and besides these, a number of smaller tables decorated in white and green. Mrs. Guyton superintended the serving. The "old people" first were taken to the tables, and after finishing their meal, they returned to the first floor and the young folks went above. While those were being served the old folks danced one of the old-time "Virginia reels" and enjoyed it heartily. They danced with as much spirit and interest as did any of the more youthful ones. The floor from that time on was comfortably filled with dancers, the commodious rooms giving ample space for the most enjoyable dancing.

The party assisting Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Quinlan in receiving and caring for the entertainment of their guests, comprised Mrs. C. C. Clark, of Chicago, Dr. Will Barnes and Miss Mollie Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Tom McReynolds, Miss Sue Russell, of Elkton, Ky., and Will Quinlan. Very many handsome costumes were observed, but rather than do injustice to them by a necessarily brief description, they are omitted altogether.

AMUSEMENTS.

The brilliant young actor, Robert Mantell, whose acting won such high praise here last season, will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House on Friday evening next, September 27th. Mr. Mantell will appear in his great drama, "Monbars."

W. S. Cleveland, the manager of the Haverly-Clevelands, here next Wednesday, runs two full-sized minstrel troupes of equal merits, covering in their two tours the entire domain of the Union. Lately one of the organizations was on its western trip and booked for Cleveland, O. On reaching that busy town the train brakeman threw open the car door and called in stentorian tones, "Cleveland!" when up jumped Shire, one of the bright "Little All Rights," of the Japanese contingent, and exclaimed, "Missa Cleveland he no with this show, he with the other show, he be here to-morrow."

The farce, "McCarthy's Mishaps," by Ferguson and Mack, at the opera house next Thursday, is described as being one of the funniest of the season. The title suggests the embarrassments of a convivial Irishman, McCarthy, who is fascinated with ballet girls, goes to a picnic and a reception, and through many other scenes of excitement, creating continuous mirth wherever he goes.

"JOLLY VOYAGERS."

The Elliott family, "The Jolly Voyagers", appeared at the opera house last night before an audience that was hardly as large as the show deserved. Some of the features were very fair, the unicycle and bicycle riding being very good. Some of the singing was also quite taking. They appear again this afternoon and evening.

Order of the Eastern Star.

The O. E. S. held a meeting last night at the lodge rooms in Masonic Temple, that was made unusually interesting by the presence of Mrs. Sophia C. Scott, of Mattoon, W. G. M. of the order in Illinois. A banquet was served and there was work in the degrees.

After the banquet a handsome Knight Templar outfit was presented to F. M. Metz from his wife, in honor of his birthday. The presentation speech was made by Rev. T. W. Pinkerton. The worthy grand matron, Mrs. Scott, was presented with a beautiful star made up of the mystic colors, yellow, blue, white, red and purple. City Attorney McDonald made the speech in his usual happy and inimitable manner.

At the banquet J. B. Bullard distinguished himself and brought down the house.

"Billy Was a Good Goat."

I met upon a hillside highway a day or two since a funeral procession. It was a strange funeral, too, and the corpse was quite as strange as the funeral team that drew the improvised hearse. Six little boys and three girls drew the hearse, and the corpse in the vehicle was that of a defunct billy goat.

I asked the largest boy, the leader, if he was the foreman of the fire company and he answered "No, sir; we're a funeral." The strange answer induced me to look into the wagon, and its contents revealed to my sight the first dead goat that I had ever seen. The little undertaker, who had owned Billy, enlightened me when he said "Billy was a good goat, and me and Billy used to have lots of fun in old times."

A goat's funeral was so novel a mortuary proceeding that I accepted the invitation to become one of the mourners and followed the little wagon drawn by the children up the hillside, through the winding lane over the common to the grave appointed for the last resting place of all that was mortal of poor Billy.

I have seldom seen a more decorous observance by grown people at the graveside, when the clods hid from sight all that was material, than was observed by these children in the burial of their dead friend, who doubtless had often drawn them in jolly good fellowship around and about the highways and hillsides of Winsted in the same wagon which had carried Billy to his last resting place. His grave was not long nor was it deep, but it was deep enough to cover him well, and in it he was gently placed and a few spadefuls of dirt carefully deposited upon Billy's inanimate form. Then the little leader took from his pocket a bottle filled with water, and each child present sprinkled a few drops into the grave.

A little more ceremony and the grave was covered, each child as the procession moved away turning to say "Good-by, Billy." I stooped and picked a daisy from among its kith and kin which whitened the field all around and about and laid it on the grave as my offering—not to a dead goat—but to the good friend of a little boy who loved him well enough to give him a decent burial, and bore testimony to his good traits in the simple tribute, "Billy was a good goat."

As I walked away a little song sparrow, or perhaps it was a wren, which had been nervously hopping about on the bush tops a few yards away, flew down upon the new made grave and burst out with a rapturous song and flooded all the air with melody. Ah, well! I thought, as I wandered down the hillside, there isn't any use for goat heaven when the grave of a gray old Billy is watered by the tears of children, and the funeral ceremony ends with the anthem of such a chorister.—Winsted (Conn.) THE ART OF QUARRELING.

It Is the Second Word Which Fans the Angry Spark Into Flame.

The first words of a quarrel, which are generally too trifling to be remembered, are like the few sparks that fall upon the dry leaves of the forest. The angry retort is the puff of wind that blows them into a flame. Then the mischief is done past recall. Then two hearts, friendly a moment before, are full of anger. Then words are spoken which may be forgiven, but hardly forgotten, and the friendship is seldom quite as it was before. Hence the old saying, "It is the second word that makes the quarrel." That second word usually wounds the pride or the self love of him to whom it is addressed. It may take a form that implies a doubt of the other's veracity—a dire offense to any one not wholly debased. Often it insinuates a low, small, unworthy motive. Sometimes the maddening word is a truth, as when Brutus told Cassius he had an "itching palm to sell his offices for gold." Cassius was so enraged that he cried:

I am itching palm!
You know that you are Brutus that speak this,
Or, by the gods, this speech were else your last.

Ugly truths must sometimes be spoken, but not when two persons are bound by interest and duty to avoid quarreling.

Another most irritating retort is one which attributes cowardice. Courage and truthfulness being the very foundations of respectable character, a remark which conveys an intimation of a want of either is a pure provocative of quarrel.

There are tones in the voice which cannot be described, but every reader, unless he is a high class saint, has used them in the early moments of a quarrel. The most innocent thing in the world may be said in such a way as to rasp and humiliate, particularly if it is accompanied by a certain look out of the eyes.

Human beings, old or young, never appear in so poor and mean a light as when they are quarreling. A family quarrel is among the most sorrowful and vulgar of all displays of human infirmity.

Among people living in the same house, sitting three times a day at the same table, being together in the evening, working together in the daytime, all possessing a nervous system and a tender self love, it must needs be that offenses come. Irritating words will be unintentionally spoken, expected attentions will be omitted, the material of a quarrel will frequently be created. Two things should be borne in mind by every inmate: one is, that it takes two persons, at least, to make a quarrel, the other, that the quarrel usually dates from the second word.

Tom—What did you take my hat for?

Charles—I didn't take your hat, and you know it.

Tom—You are a liar!

In this case Charles made the quarrel, because he met the merely irritating first word with a grossly insulting second. Put down the brakes hard upon the second word.—Youth's Companion

He Got a Seat.

"Will you kindly allow me to stand?" asked a gentleman as he got into a railway carriage, which carriage already contained the specified number.

"Certainly not, sir!" exclaimed a passenger occupying a corner seat near the door. "The way these trains are overcrowded is shameful!"

"As you appear to be the only person who objects to my presence," replied the gentleman, "I shall remain where I am."

"Then I shall call the guard and have you removed, sir."

Suiting the action to the word, the aggrieved passenger rose, and putting his head out of the window, vociferously summoned the guard. The newcomer saw his opportunity and quietly slipped into the corner seat.

"What's up?" inquired the guard, as he opened the carriage door.

"One over the number," replied the newcomer, coolly.

"You must come out, sir! The train's going on," and without waiting for further explanation the guard pulled out the aggrieved passenger, who was left wildly gesticulating on the platform.—London Court Journal.

The Inventor of the Oratorio.

St. Philip Neri, to whom a statue is to be raised in Rome, was, according to tradition, a great miracle worker, but his claim to our grateful consideration lies in the fact that he was the real inventor of the oratorio. He was born in 1515 in Florence, and about 1561 consecrated as a priest at Rome. When later he founded a congregation of priests at Rome he used to explain to them biblical histories, and in order to render these entertainments attractive he permitted hymns and psalms to be sung between the intervals of his teachings and exhortations. At length he dramatized sacred stories, writing them in verse and setting them to music in the fashion of hymns. The choruses, written in four parts, were interspersed with solos, and the plays were divided into two parts. The sermon was delivered after the first part, and thus the continued attention of the congregation was assured, for none would leave before hearing the second part of this primitive form of oratorio.—Boston Times.

The Moon and Vegetation.

The influence of the moon upon vegetation is very feeble compared with that of the sun, but it is established. Professor Lindley says that possibly the screens which are drawn over hot houses at night to prevent loss of heat by radiation, may produce some injury by cutting off the rays of the moon, which nature intended to fall upon plants as much as the rays of the sun. Again, M. Duchalie, a French scientist, a few years ago experimented on the sprouting and germination of seeds in moonlight instead of sunlight. He subjected the seedlings of lentils, vetches, etc., to its influence. When the seeds had sprouted he put them in a dark place and kept them there for a time, so that the stalks grew slender and of a yellowish white. Afterward on three nights, when there was clear moonlight, he exposed them for six hours each night. He found that the stalks at once turned toward and followed the moonlight just as many plants turn toward and follow the progress of the sun through the heavens. In hot countries it is well known that vegetation is largely dependent upon the moon. West Indian planters affirm that the growth of the sugar cane is twice as great during moonlight nights as when there is no moon, an assertion which has been repeatedly proven.—New York Telegram.

NO COLD FEET

With Alfred Dolge's Felt Shoes

WE Guarantee the Felt in these shoes to be made from Pure Live Wool, which is an absorbent of all dampness and impurity passing from the feet.

THERE are comparatively few in this climate who do not suffer in some manner from tender feet, caused by wearing rubber or fine grained leather shoes, which give little or no ventilation to the feet, and confine the perspiration, keeping the feet continually damp or wet, often resulting in rheumatism or other serious illness.

WOOL conveys away the excessive heat. As a non-conductor of heat, it preserves the normal measure of warmth, hence it is that Wool is a better protection against excess of either heat or cold than leather or any other material.

THE process of making the Alfred Dolge Felt Shoes is protected by patents. They are sold by
